

SOCIETY

Society was busy with weddings all week long. Some of them were extremely picturesque and marked notable gatherings of well-known people and others were celebrated in churches or homes with large or small companies present, according to the wishes and plans of the bride. At all of them were worn smart summer gowns and fetching creations of the newest models. Lovely flowers in great profusion decorated the houses and churches of the churches, and there was an air of informality about the receptions that only soft summer days can give to an affair given in town at the close of a long and brilliant season.

According to accounts, there will be another series of weddings for this week. One of particular interest will take place in Tazewell, when Miss Jean McDonald Graham, daughter of Judge Samuel C. Graham, and Clinton Mary Kirby, son of the late William and Mrs. Margaret Kirby, of Suffolk, will be married on Tuesday. Both bride and groom belong to well-known families, and a great deal of interest centers in their marriage. Beautiful and rare flowers have been sent from Florida to decorate the house and church, and the attendants of the bride include some of the prettiest girls in Virginia. Mr. Kirby is a member of the faculty at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, at Lynchburg.

One of the pretty informal affairs of the past week was a tea party given by Mrs. Neil Dunlop Sills at her home at Westhampton, in honor of the Kingsford-Haskins wedding party and a few out-of-town guests. The affair was arranged throughout with great care, and a basket of pink rambles, caught with tulle, decorated the tea table in the dining-room, where Mrs. Haskins presided. A number of young girls, Mrs. Sills wore a soft, embroidered frock, trimmed in lace, and the bride wore a gown of white marquisette, trimmed in Irish lace, with a blue hat.

The Country Club of Virginia will attract interesting parties this week for the eighth annual Old Dominion tournament, which will be held on the club's course June 10 to 15, inclusive. Some of the best men and women players in America will contest in this tennis tournament, and society will be out in full force to watch the games. Thursday the club will give its annual June reception. There will be orchestra music on the lawn in the afternoon and in the clubhouse at night for the informal dance. Light refreshments will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock at the clubhouse.

Some of the most interesting places around the club at present are the summer houses that have been erected at points overlooking the golf course and grounds. Lots of tea parties are given in the little tea houses, and several card parties have taken place in them during the mornings of the past week. There were a number of parties during the club last evening. The tables were set with pink flowers, and the candles were shaded in Dresden silk.

Visiting Miss Hinford.
Miss Cora Field, of Baltimore, is spending some time in Richmond, as guest of Miss Ella Hinford, at West Chester, on West End street. Miss Field and Miss Hinford have just returned from Whitefish Bay, where they were guests at a very delightful house party given there last week. Miss Hinford has been in Baltimore for the past several weeks.

Back From Annapolis.
Miss Mary Bell Saunders returned yesterday from Annapolis, Md., where she went to attend the dances given "June week" at the United States Naval Academy. Miss Saunders was one of several Richmond girls that went to Annapolis to attend the dances given there last week.

Richard Saunders and Miss Mary Saunders will be members of a very attractive house party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Almond Blow at their country estate in Gloucester county the first week in August. The Blows give a house party every summer and entertain delightfully at their place in Virginia.

At the Art Club.
A glance at the walls carrying the work of the more advanced scholars of the Art School reveals a condition of ability rarely excelled in any part of the country under similar circumstances and never before equaled in Richmond. Among the more notable in this exhibition must be mentioned the specimens from the estate of Miss Helen Lorraine. This young artist achieved an "honorable mention" and a "first mention" in crayon sketches from life, and in addition shows a versatility in pen and ink, full of life and true to nature in action and drawing. "See and mention" falls to Miss Lorraine Montgomery for a characteristically head from life, which shows marked talent and the ability to give likeness in black and white. Miss Lorraine Fitzgerald also secures "honorable mention" for character sketches.

Miss Elizabeth Allen receives "third mention" for some excellent work in crayon. "Mention" is won by some good work by Miss Ada Smith, which demonstrates that the methods pursued by the faculty of this school of art points the way for talent to travel in order that the maximum results may be evolved.

Freehand pen and ink sketches by Nat Markeson have deservedly received much attention, showing as they do a talent which is certain to achieve fame and fortune in the future. At the annual sketching contest, which was held in the modeling class at 11 being carried on, as is also a small class in painting from the model. A recent criticism of the work of the advanced classes is that in the matter of expression and light in the facial work shows marked advance over any previous year.

At the very successful lawn fête held in the Art Club grounds last Thursday afternoon the following young girls took part in the various dances and games, which were carried out with much spirit under the kind direction of Miss Ruth Anderson: Misses Josephine Blair, Dorothy Meek, Anne Higger, Louise Blair, Jane Strudwick, Louise Blankenship, Jean Blair, Eleanor Kirk, Elizabeth Johnson, Frances Jordan, Juliet Duggett, Missa Duggett, Annie Armstrong, Dorothy Bruce. The following young girls served refreshments during and after the dancing: Miss Kitty Vaughn, Miss Elsie McCall, Miss Jane Wingfield, Miss Virginia Clark, Miss Madeleine Blair, Miss Louise Williams, Miss Juliet Williams, Miss Emily Hall, Miss Elizabeth McLean, Miss Mildred Williams.

To Mrs. C. J. Rostrop must be accorded the praise for the inception and management of this successful affair, and too much praise cannot be awarded to the members of the Art Club for their untiring zeal in the preparation of this, the first lawn party given by the pupils of the Art School.

Visiting Mrs. Lee.
Mrs. Benjamin H. Nash, of 115 East Franklin Street, is the guest of Mrs. H. E. Lee, at "Ravenworth," in the country. Later on, Mrs. Nash will be the guest of Mrs. Vass before going to the Virginia mountains to remain until the early fall.

Taylor-Tyler.
A very pretty wedding was celebrated at Enon Church, in Hanover county, at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening of last week when Miss Lena Belle Tyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Tyler, became the bride of Hunter Taylor, also of Hanover county. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Walter Taylor, pastor of Enon Church, and the church was decorated in garlands of flowers and ferns.

The bride wore a gown of white embroidered Swiss and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her bridesmaids were Misses Ethel Kelley and the Southards. They wore soft white frocks of mull and carried roses and ferns. The ushers included Messrs. Aubrey Tyler, Gray Tate, Harry Holt and Samuel Perrine. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left for a wedding journey, and after June 10 will make their home at East Allen, in Hanover county.

At Country Estates.
Major and Mrs. Harry Fairfax, having spent the winter and spring in Richmond, returned last week to Lewisburg, W. Va. They will spend the summer months at "Thornwald," where they have a country estate. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Davis, who also spent the winter season here, returned to their Greenbrier home the first day of June. Mr. and Mrs. Davis made the trip to Lewisburg in their touring car.

Drained—King.
A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon last, at the home of William R. Burgess, No. 122 B Street, Washington, D. C., when Simon Burgess Drinard and Miss Minnie Hudson King were united in matrimony by Rev. Herbert Scott Smith, pastor of St. Margaret Church, Washington, D. C.

Miss King is the daughter of the late Shirley and Mary Virginia King, and Mr. Drinard is associated with Dr. Varnum & Son, of this city. They will make their home at No. 303 West Grace Street after June 10.

Washington Wedding.
The marriage of W. Travis Smith and Miss Myrtle Elise Koch was celebrated last Tuesday evening very quietly at the home of the bride, Frank L. Wells was the officiating minister, and owing to a recent bereavement in the groom's family, only the immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony. Mr. Smith, who is a nephew of the late Professor G. M. Smith, and is business manager of the Smithsonian Business College in this city. The bride is a musician of much ability, and has been organist at the Broad Street Methodist Church here for some time.

Home From School.
Miss Julia Omolundro will return this week from Hollins, where she has been at college for the past session. Miss Omolundro is attending the dances at Roanoke College, near Salem, Va. She will be accompanied to Richmond by Miss Maude Johnson, of Radford.

Entertainment in Roanoke.
Mrs. W. W. Buxby entertained informally the Ken Elk Ath Club Tuesday morning at her home on Washington Street, Roanoke, complimentary to her guest, Miss Carrie Waddy, of Richmond.

A morning was pleasantly spent, and a luncheon was served the guests. The guests included Miss Elizabeth Hargett, Ethel Johnson, Elizabeth Dornell, Kitty Hope, Alta May Wood, Mary Dodd Fox, Irene Fischer, Edith Churchill and Josephine Kocher.

Attending House Party.
The Georgian of Atlanta, contains the following article of interest to society here:

"Miss Feroz Humphries has returned home from Hines College, Va., and will entertain a house party of schoolmates this month. Miss Margaret Boswell, of Chase City, Va., arrives June 11, and will be joined June 14 by Miss Henderson Yorker, of Jackson, Miss; Miss Frances Dorris, of Nashville, Tenn., and Miss Louise Whitley, of Annapolis, Md."

Leaving for Blacksburg.
Miss Jane B. Elyson and Miss Margaret DeBarnette left town Friday for Blacksburg, where they will attend the finals at V. P. 1. They will not return to Richmond until the latter part of this week.

Closing Recital.
An enthusiastic audience crowded St. Mary's Hall Wednesday evening at the closing piano recital by the pupils of Miss Lena L. Massel. Medals were awarded by Rev. Edward Myers, O. S. B., to the following pupils: Simon Passamaneck, Ruth Spaul, Lena Tatar, Elmda Onesty, Inez Puccinelli, Goldie Passamaneck, Letitia Gillo, Bertha Tatar, Rena Passamaneck and Edna Marchetti. The program, which was well chosen, consisted of selections from Beethoven, Schubert, Schumann, Chopin, Liszt, and others, and the conclusion flowers in profusion were showered upon the young artists.

At the University of Virginia.
Quite a number of Baltimore people are in Virginia for the early June days. Some are guests at big country places and others are attending commencement festivities at the various colleges in the State.

Miss Fells R. Sullivan, Jr., with a party of young people, will leave today in her motor car for Charlottesville to attend the commencement exercises at the University of Virginia, where her brother, Samuel H. Murray, is a student. Mrs. Sullivan's guests include Miss Eleanor Tunstall, Miss Eleanor Carey, Miss Mary Carroll Friel and Edward Christian, of Richmond.
